

Information for Reporting Parties

The purpose of this form is to ensure that Reporting Parties, as defined under the St. Mary's College of Maryland Policy Against Sexual Misconduct (the Policy), are aware of their rights and responsibilities. Please review the statements listed below and be sure that you understand each of them.

Medical attention. If you are sexually assaulted, you may wish to seek medical attention for possible injuries and to check for injuries you may not be able to see. In addition to obtaining care for yourself, seeking medical attention allows for the collection and preservation of evidence. Know that collecting evidence does not commit you to following through with a law enforcement process, but gives you the option to do so. The College will provide transportation to the hospital, if requested.

Law enforcement. You may notify law enforcement of a complaint and the College will assist you in contacting the Sheriff's Office. Sexual misconduct may violate the College Policy, even if it is not found to violate the law. Anyone who commits sexual misconduct in violation of federal, state, or local laws may also be subject to criminal charges. The College investigation and resolution process is independent of any criminal investigation or proceeding.

The applicable policy. The College's Policy and grievance procedures apply to this complaint, and you have options for the investigation and resolution of the complaint. Complaints against students will be reviewed in accordance with the Policy and the Procedures to Resolve Complaints of Sexual Misconduct against a Student. Complaints against a College employee, volunteer or contractor will be reviewed in accordance with the Policy and the procedures for Resolving Complaints Against a College Employee, Volunteer or Contractor.

Advisors. You may be assisted by an advisor of your choice or by an attorney, at your own expense. The Responding Party may be assisted by an advisor of the Responding Party's choice or by an attorney, at the Responding Party's own expense.

Request for confidentiality. You may request that your name or other identifiable information not be shared, or that no formal action against the Responding Party be taken. Title IX Coordinator Michael Dunn will evaluate these requests for confidentiality. If this request is granted, the College's ability to investigate may be limited. When evaluating a Reporting Party's request for confidentiality, the Title IX Coordinator will make every effort to respect this request and will evaluate this request in the context of the College's responsibility to provide a safe and non-discriminatory environment for all students. If you request confidentiality or that no formal action be taken, you may change your mind at any time and contact the Title IX Coordinator to initiate an investigation.

Interim measures and accommodations. You may request interim measures, remedies, and accommodations, such as no-contact orders; access to counseling services; academic accommodations and support services; change in housing, class assignments or office location; changes in work schedule, job assignments or supervisor(s); assistance with visas or immigration documents; student financial aid services; and/or Public Safety escort services. There are services available to you on campus and in the community for counseling, advocacy, health, mental health, and legal assistance, including the following:

Retaliation. Anyone who retaliates against the Reporting Party, Responding Party, or anyone who participates in a sexual misconduct investigation will be subject to disciplinary action. Any incidents of retaliation should be reported to Title IX Coordinator Michael Dunn.

Formal investigations. The investigation is designed to provide a fair, impartial, and reliable gathering of the facts. All individuals interviewed during the investigation, including the parties and any witnesses, will be treated with appropriate sensitivity and respect. In the event of an investigation, both parties will have the same procedural opportunities to present witnesses and evidence, to be informed of the outcome of the disciplinary proceedings, and to appeal the outcome. The College will make every effort to protect your privacy and will only disclose information on a "need to know" basis. The College's goal is to investigate and resolve all complaints within sixty (60) days of receipt of the complaint. Depending on the circumstances of the complaint, however, additional time may be needed.

I have received a copy of the College's Policy Against Sexual Misconduct and the relevant procedures and had an opportunity to ask questions and have them answered.
