

Moving Expenses

An allowance for moving expenses may be authorized with the initial appointment of a faculty member, as specified in the letter of appointment. Such allowances rarely are more than a portion of the total moving expenses.

Moving expenses include the actual cost of transportation of household goods, furnishings, and personal effects, as well as actual travel expenses for the employee and family members who live in the employee's household.