Types of Note Taking Strategies
Cornell Note Style

For:
- Main ideas
- Questions that connect points
- Diagrams
- Prompts to help you study

When:
- Before class
- During class
- After class

---

For:
- Recording lecture

When:
- During class

---

For:
- Top-level main ideas
- Quick reference

When:
- After class
- Before Next Class (review)
Outlining Method

Information is structured from a BIG, MAIN IDEA down to SMALL, SPECIFIC DETAILS.
Mind Mapping Method

Great For:
- Visual learners
- Summarizing & studying
- Guest lecturers – when you don’t know their lecture style
Tips and Methods to improve your notes
Review the Text: This will give you a heads up of the terms, concepts, and information that will most likely be covered in the lecture. It can also give you an idea of how to structure the information.

Identify Unfamiliar and/or Difficult Content: If you find certain terms, concepts, or information confusing, you will know to take more specific notes during the lecture. You can also be sure to ask questions so that the instructor can clarify the information.

Format Your Notes: Find a style of note-taking that works best for YOU and the course. This might be using one style or a combination of styles so that you notes are the best resource they can be!

Record Examples & the Most Important Information: Don’t worry about recording down every word the instructor says or your grammar and spelling. Instead, write down the most important information, main ideas/terms, and examples discussed in class.

Review within 24 Hours: To minimize forgetting and maximize information retention, review your notes within 24 hours after your class.

Fill in Gaps: During class, you might not have been able to write down all of the information on a topic or an example you thought of after the lecture—add that information to your notes! This is also a chance to fix any spelling or grammar errors you might have made while quickly recording notes.

Summarize the Information: At the end of your notes for each class, write a short summary or synopsis to what you learned in class. This will help you focus back on the main ideas of the lecture and can serve as a quick review before your next class to help refresh the content covered.
When Technology is Allowed in the Classroom
Google Drive

- Allows fast tyers to keep up with lecturers easier
- Learner can look up examples of content as the professor is discussing it
  - Example: Art History class is discussing the Mona Lisa, student can quickly pull up a photo to have with his/her/their notes.
- Outline tool allows for easy organization of notes, and quick searches of material when studying for exams
- Notes can be accessed on any device—no worries about losing a notebook.
Note Taking Apps

AudioNote

- Compatible with all devices
- Record notes and audio
- Combines the functionality of a notepad and voice recorder

One Note

- Compatible with all devices
- Type, write or draw notes
- Draw or write notes on existing PDF’s
- Works with a touchscreen device
- Use finger or a stylus
Important to Note:

- You must have the professors permission before recording any classes!
- This is not an excuse for playing games or scrolling Facebook in class
- Not every class will be pro-technology, so having a paper & pen style is important too

Managing a Fast Speaking Professor
When Professors Talk Too Fast...

- Read all the material before class to get a foundation of the material.
- Share notes with a classmate or form a study group. Different pieces of the lecture may be picked up by different peers.
- Leave space in your notes to make it easier to add information later.
- Develop a "lost" symbol (e.g. "?" or "Q") to insert in your notes if you get lost during the lecture. This way you can keep pace with new information and figure out after class what you missed.
When Professors Talk Too Fast...

- Ask your professor for clarification if you are lost or confused about specific information. Office hours are a great time to make sure you understood the information.

- Record the lecture (ask your professor first). This works well because you can listen at your own pace later, but you have to listen to the lecture twice.

- Use abbreviations!
  - Try standard symbols, such as ">" for "greater than", or make up your own.
  - Be careful to be consistent with your abbreviations.
