INTRODUCTION

The present volume continues the updating of the General Bibliography of The Gambia, and covers the period 1988-1992. But many items for earlier years which have come to light or been confirmed have also been included. As most sections are arranged chronologically, these are found at the beginning of the appropriate section.

Issues of the earlier volumes were preceded by visits to The Gambia and the United Kingdom. Financial hardship has precluded any such visits this time. There is also a time lag in receiving publications which hinders completeness. The last Gambia National Bibliography to reach me was that for 1991. A U.K. list of 1991 publications on Africa did not appear until 1993.

The list of publications given on page xxii of the 1983-1987 Supplement has continued to be used. To this should be added the useful Nutrition Abstracts and Reviews.

Much help has been forthcoming from the computerized catalogs of the University of California system - Gladys, the holdings at Berkeley, Melvyl - the system wide catalog. The database for Current Contents here provides a wide range of materials appearing in scientific periodicals. The holdings at Stanford were consulted through Socrates. Additional medical material was consulted at the library of the University of California San Francisco Medical Center. Through the good offices of Moore Crossey, Curator of the African Collection at Yale, a series of printouts gave me material from Yale, Harvard, and Northwestern University.

Items which have not been seen have been marked with an asterisk, and, if possible, an acknowledgement is given to the primary source.

In addition to the computerized system, many thanks are due to the staff in the various sub-libraries at Berkeley, the School of Librarianship, Public Health, Anthropology, Government Documents, Entomology, Current Periodicals, Reference Room, etc. who have always shown themselves to be knowledgeable, courteous, and helpful.

Special thanks are also due to the following for materials or answering queries.

The Huntington Library, San Marino, California

Karen Fung of the Hoover Institution, Stanford

Roderic Knight (Oberlin)

Paul Hair (University of Liverpool)

Delia Haust (for newspapers from The Gambia, and German articles)

Joan Savory

Peter Weil (University of Delaware)

Arnold Hughes (University of Birmingham, England)

Amadou Janneh

Susan Sanguinetti of Focus on Africa Magazine

George Fairley of The Gambia and Guinea Diocesan Association.

George Brooks (Indiana University)

Patrick Webb

United Nations Development Programme

To those I have accidentally omitted I offer my apologies.

Postscript

When the manuscript had been completed and indexed, a bundle of newspapers for 1992, which I had not previously seen, reached me, and in library browsing serendipity produced further references to articles and books.

About 40% of the new items could be inserted in the text under the appropriate headings, the rest were put in the Supplement, with indicators inserted in the main text in appropriate places. The names had also to be added to the index.

This leaves a manuscript slightly untidier than I would have liked, but the time taken to re-type and recheck the manuscript, was balanced against the long delay that this would involve, and the decision made to release the manuscript as is.

* A number already in followed by b indicates such an entry.

In April the author developed a serious illness, consequently the issue of the bibliography was further delayed until October. Meantime further items, nearly 100 in number had come to light, mainly from Scandinavian and medical sources. To avoid further delay it was decided to hold these over until the next Supplement.

THOUGHTS ON RESEARCH

- 1 PUBLISHED ERRORS
- 2 KEY WORDS AND DATABASES
- 3 GAMBIAN SERIES

ERRORS IN VARIOUS PLACES

In using material from other publications etc. there is always the risk of error.

Some examples illustrate errors in classification.

1. The University of London Library card catalog system listed the following work under 'Gambia'.

Gomez, Lameck Kazembe Haza

"Studies on some aspects of the behaviour of Anopheles Gambiae Giles," Ph.D. Thesis (Natural Science - Zoology), April 1962. 114 pp.

On examination this turned out to be a work done in East Africa at Makerere U.C. and the Ross Institute of Tropical Hygiene in London.

The only connection with The Gambia was in the name for the species of mosquito.

2. Following the catalog of the British Library Newspaper Library in Colindale, I included the African Herald, published in Georgetown in 1809, which had been attributed to The Gambia, in my A General Bibliography of The Gambia (1979, p. 261). It struck me later that MacCarthy Island on which Georgetown is located had not been acquired by the British until about 1830. I queried the date, thinking that there might have been a misprint for 1890. It eventually transpired that this was a Sierra Leone newspaper. Freetown had been renamed Georgetown by an eccentric governor, and had been known by this name for a year, after which its original name had been restored. In cataloging the newspaper it had been erroneously attributed to Georgetown in The Gambia.

3. As #2087 in the 1978-1982 Supplement I included:

Francis, David K.A.

Lancet, 7 August 1982, 301-302.

The item was derived from the Gambia National Bibliography, and was marked as unchecked. Subsequently it was found that this item did not refer to The Gambia. There was an article immediately preceding this on The Gambia (pp. 300-301), and the second title was presumably added by mistake from an offprint. The Royal Victoria Infirmary mentioned in the article might well have been confused in the compiler's mind with the Royal Victoria Hospital in Banjul.

4. The Gambia National Bibliography for 1991 includes:

Sanneh, Lamin O.

"Tcherno Aliou, the wali of Gambia: Islam, colonialism and the rural factor in Futa Jallon, 1867-1912,"

Asian and African Studies, 20, 1986, 10-73.

Here the correct wording should have been "wali of Goumba" - a place in Futa Jallon - the compiler's or typist's mind easily transforming Goumba into Gambia.

5. The Joint Acquisitions List of Africana, 29(2), March 1990, p.18.

included under Gambia, #243 - Report of the Commission of Inquiry into the collection of voluntary financial contributions from the Public. Pretoria. 1976.

This is a South African publication, which was misplaced in the list.

6. From time to time databases produce odd stray items.

Melvyl (The University of California System) once produced under its Gambia subject list: Les cahiers de Gamboma: instructions politiques et militaires des partisans congolais 1964-1965.

Travaux africains du CRISP. But this seems to have vanished again.

KEY WORDS AND DATABASES

Gambie. If the French form 'Gambie' is entered, the responses include not merely items relating to The Gambia, but to the Gambier Islands in the South Pacific Ocean, to Gambier in Ohio, and the surname Gambier. (Lord James Gambier was one of the three main donors for establishing Kenyon College. Bathurst (the former name for the capital city, now known as Banjul).

This town, built on the island of Banjul, was originally named after Henry Bathurst, Third Earl Bathurst (1762-1834), who was Secretary for War and the Colonies (1812-1828) (Colonial Secretary 1822-1827 ?). During his period in office numerous places throughout the world were named after him. Canada has Cape Bathurst and Bathurst Inlet (North West Territories) and a Bathurst Island. Australia has Bathurst Bay and Bathurst Island. There are towns or cities named Bathurst in South Africa, Tasmania, Australia (New South Wales), Canada (New Brunswick), as well as The Gambia.,

Thus the catalog may respond with such items as Deblicquy, a Thule site on Bathurst Island....(Canada)
Ten months among the tents of the Tuski ... (Canadian Arctic) , or Frank Hurley in Papua: Photographs of the 1920-1923 expeditions.
[ the last named being published in Bathurst, New South Wales (Australia) ] or comments on the speeches of Lord Bathurst.

The surname Bathurst produces another set of works, e.g.
Rudyard Kipling: Mrs Bathurst and Other Stories.
Robin G. Bathurst: Carbonate sediments and their diagenesis.. the works of a California poet, Bill Bathurst, etc.
Michael Roe's Nine Australian Progressives.... appears because one of those he wrote about was Albert Bathurst Piddington.

The only Gambian entry found in the University of California's Melvyl system under the subject 'Bathurst', out of 56 items, was the account of Lindberg's crossing of the Atlantic (English and Swedish versions). #1976 in the present work, #1191 in Supplement II.

Mandinka, Mandingo

In Brazilian Portuguese the word 'Mandinga' has come to mean witchcraft, sorcery'. The term 'Mandinga' was apparently applied to a variety of Muslim peoples coming from West Africa, and these were believed to be masters of sorcery. 'Mandingar' means 'to bewitch, curse, or cast a spell on.' 'Mandingueiro' means a sorcerer or sorceress.

This means that a series of titles such as

Curas, mandingas e feiticós de preto-velho...	Teixeira, Antonio
Magia, mirongas e mandingas	Orphanake, J.E.
Manual de feiticós e mandingas:	Farelli, Maria
Quiquiribu mandinga (Se lo llevo el diablo..	Acosta Rubio, Raoul
Antigo brevario de rezas e mandingas	Molina, N.A.
O manual de rezas e mandingas (a cura...	Felix, Candido are concerned with magic, sorcery etc. in Brazil, and not with the Mandinka of West Africa.

Gambia

This sometimes produces items relating to the Gambianos - (Guambiano, Guanbiano, Moguex) - Indians in the Andean valley of South-West Columbia.

Apparently there is also a 'Gambia shoal' in the Pacific Ocean.

An item by Lindolfo Paoliello: Pais das Gambiarras refers to Brazil.

Gambiarras means 'stage lights' in Portuguese.

GAMBIAN SERIES

One thing that I have not yet succeeded in doing is tracking down the various series of publications (Government documents) which have been produced in The Gambia. For instance one comes across a reference to a GARD Report No.69, but in one's researches one has never comes across any mention of the previous 68 items ! Or if one hears of Gambian Agricultural Research Papers 1-3, did they stop there, or were there more ?

My experience indicates that these problems cannot be resolved without a visit to the country. Attempts to obtain information by mail rarely produce any positive results.

In addition studies are made for Government Departments either by visiting experts or external organisations (consultants), and reports on various topics are made to NGOs (Oxfam, ActionAid etc.) and international organizations (USAID, World Bank, Peace Corps, etc.). Copies of such reports rarely find their way into libraries abroad, though they may be quoted by authors who have worked in The Gambia.
